

*Man's Flight
Through Life Is Sustained By The Power Of His Knowledge*

TO HONOR

SERGEANT MAJOR JULIUS L. DENNING, USA, RET.

Since 1992, Sgt. Maj. Julius L. Denning, USA, Ret., has served as a volunteer archives technician in the Special Collections Branch of the Air Force Academy Library. During the period, Sgt. Maj. Denning has performed a myriad of duties in support of the activities of The Friends of the Air Force Academy Library. He has administered the archival files of The Friends' Commemorative Program, maintaining both The Friends' commemorative donor files and honor certificates. He has arranged for display over 300 certificates that have frequently been examined by visiting dignitaries to the Academy Library. Sgt. Maj. Denning has also contributed to the construction of six major exhibits on the history of American airpower. In addition, he expended countless hours supporting publication of The Friends' The Genesis of Flight: The Aeronautical History Collection of Colonel Richard Gimbel. Due to Sgt. Maj. Denning's generous, enthusiastic, and skillful efforts, both The Friends' and the Air Force Academy Library's programs have been greatly enhanced.

A Friend In Deed

By The Friends of the Air Force Academy Library